The Beginning of a New Era?

Education: In 1973 the Supreme Court made a huge mistake, declaring abortion to be a constitutional right. Nearly 50 years later, millions of children have lost their lives and millions of women -and men - have suffered and deeply regretted their choice. Many doctors and abortion workers have left the industry after realizing how wrong they were to kill living human children in the womb.

Organizations like Equal Rights Institute, Justice for All, and Live Action have been working to converse with college students and train others to be effective in helping pro-choice people to see the convincing scientific basis and logic of the pro-life position.

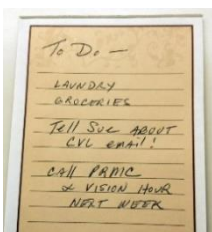

But politics have become so polarized that there are too few respectful conversations happening to allow minds to be changed. Each side seems to be seeking to increase their power to advance their ideas rather than listening to the other side and having respectful discussions. The mainstream media has become an advocate of abortion "rights", using their tremendous power to presenting the image that most reasonable people are in favor of abortion rights. Pro-abortion forces will now work toward a federal law to override the state laws banning abortion.

Presuming that Roe v Wade will be overturned, Texas and other pro-life states will ban abortion, while states like California and New York will welcome visitors from other states. Abortion pills will undoubtedly be sold illegally online, and some doctors may continue to provide pills or do surgical abortions illegally.

But many women will simply look harder for alternatives. Pregnancy centers will be waiting, well equipped to help them with whatever problems they are facing. Adoption may become more accepted as a means to provide a good home for a child. Time will show that women are able to find the help they need to have their children, and have positive outcomes. It may even be possible to eventually see, in states where abortion is banned, a decline in the destructive consequences of abortion, such as depression and substance abuse.

Prayer: Dear Father God, please increase the understanding of all Americans that abortion takes the life of an innocent, living child. Help all post-abortive women to get past their denial and accept the truth that abortion killed their child. Help them to come to a sincere repentance and find your forgiveness and healing. Please have mercy on innocent young children who are falsely taught that abortion is normal and acceptable. Help them to find the truth and forgive their parents for misleading them. Help all children to learn the truth of human development inside the womb and the precious value of every person from conception to natural death.

Action: If you or your children are parenting, seek out resources to help inform the children about the fascinating development of young children in the womb.(1) At an appropriate age, also inform them about the reality of abortion and how sad it is that so many people in our country mistakenly believe that it is acceptable.
