This week's Topic: Covert Population Program in Kenya

Education: The 27 Catholic Bishops of Kenya recently released a statement regarding the tetanus vaccination campaign being conducted by the World Health Organization and UNICEF. Samples of the vaccine had been obtained and tested. All samples obtained were shown to be laced with Beta-HCG, a hormone which causes infertility and multiple miscarriages in women. Placing the hormone in with the tetanus vaccine, and giving 5 doses rather than the usual 2 or 3 required for tetanus immunization, causes the woman to develop antibodies against the hormone. If she becomes pregnant, the HCG produced by the newly conceived child will be neutralized by those antibodies and prevent the continuing development of the child. She is essentially being immunized against pregnancy. The vaccination programs are targeted specifically to women of child-bearing age because tetanus is a danger faced by newborns when the umbilical cord is cut with a non-sterile instrument. Similarly laced vaccines had been used in Mexico in 1993 and in the Philippines in 1994.

The Ministry of Health of Kenya issued a statement that the vaccine had been tested and found to be clean. WHO and UNICEF also deny the presence of the hormone in the vaccine. The bishops insist that that statement is false and a deliberate attempt to mislead the Kenyan people. They are dismayed at the attempts to intimidate and blackmail medical professionals who have corroborated information about the vaccine. The bishops make it clear that they are not against vaccinations, but urge Kenyans to avoid this program, which they are convinced is a disguised population control program. The Catholic Bishops have no motive to lie. And if HCG were not present, why use 5 doses instead of 2 or 3? Why were only government employees allowed to administer the vaccine instead of leaving the vaccine with clinic staff?

Prayer: Dear Jesus, Please have mercy on the people of Kenya. Let the truth be widely known and this attempt to poison women to prevent births be exposed and defeated. Give comfort and healing to the women who have already been vaccinated. Lead all involved in this evil action to conversion and repentance. Please help leaders in Kenya and in all countries to be sincere and strong in protecting their people against harm, and take seriously these attacks on women. Help us to continue to work toward greater respect for human life in our own country and around the world. Help us all to recognize every child as a precious person created by You, in Your image.

Action: Consider subscribing to LifeNews.com or other news sources which expose these kinds of stories. In spite of the alarming charges made by the Kenyan bishops, searches of the web sites of CNN, ABC News, CBS News, NBC News and UPI found no mention of the report.
